San José Airport to Host Neighborhood Meetings Opportunities for residents to learn about the New Airport

San José, CA – Over the next two months San José and South Bay residents will have multiple opportunities in their neighborhoods to learn about the current project to rebuild Mineta San José International Airport (SJC) as a more convenient, comfortable and competitive airport for the people of Silicon Valley.

Airport staff will make presentations at a series of eleven community outreach meetings from August 8 through September 13. The presentations will offer an overview of the New Airport, including the terminals, roadways and customer service enhancements that are scheduled for completion in 2010.

Those attending will also receive information about airport renovation projects that will affect users and travel tips to help ease customers through the Airport during the construction period.

The $1.3 billion New Airport now under construction will replace the current Terminal C with a new Terminal B; expand and enhance Terminal A for greater customer convenience; build a new rental car and public parking garage; and improve airport roadways and traffic circulation.

Additional meetings are being scheduled in Sunnyvale and Cupertino, and for other cities, clubs and organizations by request. For more information, call (408) 501-0979.
